bench50

The robust frame provides a highly stable working platform and the demountable wire management system allows for easy cable access from underneath

The bench50 system is available as a height adjustable option that adjusts from 725mm to 925mm

The floating style top and robust 50mm legs provide a stylish and highly durable solution to your bench system requirements

The FG bench system brought to you by Quay Office Group provides a stylish and flexible solution to today's workspace requirements and working practices.

The clean simple lines of the FG bench systems include recessed legs to provide an uninterrupted and flexible workspace that allows for a 'free address' system if required.

The stable work surface can be equipped with a wide variety of accessories including comprehensive wire management, screens, tool rails and a height adjustment option on the bench50 system that will more than meet the demands of a today's modern office environment.

Maximise practicality and functionality with a wide range of screens and accessories

The clean simple lines, floating top and 75mm legs provide a surprisingly stable working platform

The scalloped desk edge and 12mm access gap allow for easy access of wires and cables
